Raymon Montalbetti Wins Scholarship at Alberta University

Award Given Annually to Student Having Highest Average in Grade XII Departmental Examinations in Province

An outstanding honor was awarded a local high school student last week when Raymon Montalbetti son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Montalbetti, received a letter from the registrar of the University of Alberta informing him that he had been awarded a three years' scholarship at the university, plus an annual $50 cash bonus.

This scholarship is awarded annually to the student in Alberta having the highest average obtained in the Grade XII departmental examinations. Mr. D. Hoyle, principal of the local schools, received a letter from the university authorities congratulating the high school and staff on the success of this student.

On Friday, last at 2.30 p.m. the high school students and staff assembled in the auditorium where Principal Hoyle paid tribute to Raymon's accomplishment. He outlined his brilliant progress in high school studies and touched on his dramatic and sports career. Raymon had consistently been an honors student in grades 9, 10, 11, and 12. His popularity with the other students was attested by his election last year to the office of president of the student body.

After tribute had been paid to him, Raymon addressed his teachers and fellow students and expressed his keen pleasure at winning the award.

He left at the week-end for Edmonton where he enrolled at the university this week. He plans on becoming a chemical engineer.

His many friends extend their congratulations and wish him continued success.

Britain's Navy and Fleet Air Arm in Constant Readiness to Strike at the Enemy

In addition to their regular convoy and patrol duties, Britain's Navy and Fleet Air Arm maintain a constant search for enemy activity over hundreds of thousands of miles of ocean. Proof of their success in keeping open the Allied sea lanes is given by Germany's intensified attacks on Russian-bound convoys and on Malta, key-point of British naval attacks on Axis supply-lines to Libya. Picture shows a Fairey "Fulmar" aircraft, landing on the flight deck of a British Aircraft carrier.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Shields Purchase Webster's Store

Have Been in Business in West Coleman For Past Fifteen Years; Mr. and Mrs. Webster Move to Penitence.

Change of business ownership took place last week when Mr. and Mrs. James Shields, well known local couple, purchased the business known as the Webster Value Store.

They opened the business on Friday last following a brief period when the doors were closed to allow for stock-taking.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster recently purchased a ladies' ready-to-wear store in Penitence this summer and have their daughter Helen managing it for them till they conclude their business transactions locally. Mr. Webster, who has been suffering from ill-health for some time is also staying at Penitence. Mrs. Webster and son, LAC Harold, are in town this week to conclude their business transactions.

Mr. and Mrs. Shields need no introduction to Coleman citizens as they are old-timers here. They went into the confectionery business in west Coleman fifteen years ago and later branched into the grocery business. Lately they sold out the grocery end of the business and confined themselves once again to confectionery. In purchasing the Value Store they will continue to sell the same line of goods as has been sold by the previous owners.

Mr. Shields has been the Bellevue Bakery agent here for the past fifteen years and with few exceptions has been on the job every morning, summer and winter, rain or shine. Mr. Shields will now terminate his connection with Bellevue Bakery and confine his attention to his new business.

BAPTISM

The christening took place at the morning service of St. Paul's United church on Sunday, Sept. 20, of the infant daughter of Leading Stoker and Mrs. Hutton. The baby was given the name of Beverly Ann, and was for the occasion her mother's christening robe. Godparents were the baby's grand uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lonsbury. A family dinner followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nash. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. A. Lonsbury, of Rossland, B.C.

Local Salvage Committee Wants Rags

James Ryan, Federal Salvage Inspector, Here this Week; Anticipates Heavy Iron and Steel Scrap Shipments From Pass.

Coleman Salvage committee held a meeting on Monday evening to discuss in general various aspects of the local salvage campaign. The members were fortunate in having Mr. James Ryan, of Calgary, federal inspector of scrap in southern Alberta, attend the meeting.

Two recent shipments of rubber netted the local committee $30.45 and A. Balloch was appointed treasurer to handle committee funds. Chairman F. Aboussafy and A. Balloch were authorized to sign cheques.

Mr. Ryan was given a detailed account of the committee's activities and the scrap available in the town and district. Mr. Ryan will bring a crew to Coleman to cut large sheets of steel which is available for scrap and which would have been too costly for the local committee to handle. He will also superintend the scrap salvage in the other Pass towns.

He emphasized the importance of rags in Canada's war industry and urged the committee to gather as many rags as was possible. As a result the committee will concentrate during the next few weeks in getting as many CLEAN rags as possible. It is quite possible that the Girl Guides may be asked to help and that some merchants may be asked for the loan of their light delivery trucks to gather the material.

A carload of heavy scrap is now in sight and will be shipped from Coleman within the next few weeks.

Lions Sponsored A Smoker Last Thursday Evening

Coleman Lions started their Fall and Winter season last Thursday evening with a smoker in the Grand Union hotel. There were approximately fifty persons present and all apparently enjoyed themselves. A short business session was held at which time it was decided to have the annual charter night ball at the Turtle Mountain Playgrounds on Friday, October 16th.

An interesting entertainment program had been arranged and was thoroughly enjoyed.

Business as Usual

LONDON (CP)—Two societies members of which have been out of an active job since war started, held their annual meetings this year as usual. They were the Royal Cumberland Youths and the Ancient Society of College Youths, bellringer associations. Members reported they were keeping in trim by ringing the bells with clappers tied.

Coleman Ambulance on Job Following French Raid

Pte. Sid. Morrison Writes To Tell of Soldiers' Appreciation to Coleman Citizens.

The Journal received a letter from Pte. S. J. Morrison on Tuesday morning telling of Coleman's ambulance still being on the job and of soldiers' appreciation of the wonderful things that the citizens of Coleman have done for their local men overseas. Pte. Morrison was born in Coleman and is a nephew of Alex. Easton, secretary of the Canadian Legion club.

The letter reads: I have just finished reading your Journal of July 9 and 16 and it's sure swell to get the news from my home town.

I thought that the citizens of Coleman would like to know that the ambulance which they donated to the Red Cross, and which is over here, is of great service. The other day when they were bringing in some of the casualties from France it was there on the job.

We, here in the hospital, have been very busy and our time off is very brief. I always seem to run into someone from the Pass and am able to pass The Journal on.

So once again I'll have to close these few lines, but before I do let me say that it is very nice to know that the people of Coleman are doing so much to help us fellows over here. Keep up the good work. Cheerio and chins up.—Pte. Morrison, S. J.

CHRISTMAS CARDS NOW ON DISPLAY

Christmas Cards are now on display at the Journal office. The Journal newboys are now selling these cards. Cards can be obtained from the Journal newboys, Ronnie Lloyd, Elvino DeCocco, Gino Salvador or Pat. Naylor. Phone 209 and the sample books will be brought to your home.

Masons Met At Blairmore on Monday

Grand Master F. P. Galbraith, of Red Deer, and R. Macleod, District Deputy Attended.

A large number of delegates from Macleod, Pincher Creek, Hiltner, Coleman, Cowley and Blairmore lodges of District No. 8 of A.F. and A.M. G.R.A., attended the annual meeting held in Blairmore on Monday in the auditorium of the United church.

Grand Master F. P. Galbraith of Red Deer and Rod Macleod of Blairmore, district deputy, attended the session. A banquet was served in the evening in the banquet hall of the auditorium.

Attending from Coleman were W. M. Jim Park, J. Emmerson, M. W. Cooke, Wm. Stevenson, A. E. Graham and Wm. Bennett.

Of interest to local masons was the appointment to the Grand Lodge of Mr. J. Emmerson who was presented with the regalia of the Grand Lodge during the meeting.

Theatre Tickets To Be Exchanged For Lucky Numbers

Last week a large number of Cole's theatres booklet programs were printed and are to be distributed to theatre patrons throughout the Pass and nearby prairie towns.

Each booklet is numbered and periodically a number will be flashed on the screens of Coleman, Blairmore and Bellevue theatres. The person having that booklet number will receive free theatre tickets upon presenting the booklet at the box-office. It may prove profitable to keep your booklet.

This week and one of the year's best comedies comes to the Palace. It's entitled "Keep 'Em Flying," and stars Abbott and Costello. An up-to-the-minute news reel, plus a novelty and comedy will also be shown.

At Cole's, Bellevue, Jack Benny and the late Carol Lombard star in the comedy "To Be or Not To Be." This picture was given much favorable publicity following the tragic death of Miss Lombard. It is a comedy with a Nazi background.

Pawnbroker Exempt?

Elks Lodge To Discuss Arena Question

Council Willing to Listen to Any Intelligent Suggestion Towards Keeping The Arena in Operation

Progress appears to have been made towards stirring up interest in the arena. Last week The Journal carried a story revealing the need for badly needed repairs if the arena is to be opened this winter.

To-night Coleman Elks Lodge will give the question serious discussion. There are a number of recent sports fans on the committee and it is sincerely hoped that through their efforts the Elks will take the lead in taking steps to repair the arena.

The Journal has been in conversation with Mayor Antrobus and some of his councilors. They urge the Elks to study the arena question and that they, as a council, would be only too pleased to have the Elks' committee attend a council meeting and place their proposals on the table. In this manner it is possible that something worthwhile might be accomplished.

The president of Coleman Sports Association, which was newly formed last year, states that the organization was a financial failure and that some debts remain from last winter's operations. It was also revealed that the arena trustees were not given one cent for insurance purposes. This state of affairs cannot continue. Men give their time and effort towards forming organizations such as the sports' association only to have them fold up for the lack of support. It needs a strong organization to supervise the arena and make it pay its way.

It is to be earnestly hoped that the Elks will see their way clear to get action on the arena. Once the Indian summer is gone the weather will hardly allow for repair work and the arena will have yet another year to deteriorate.

RECRUITING UNIT VISITS COLEMAN

A recruiting unit was in Coleman on Tuesday and Wednesday, seeking recruits for any branch of the army. On Tuesday no recruits had been enlisted, though some men had made enquiry from the officers on some branches of the service. It is understood that three West Coleman men are planning to enlist at Calgary this week end.

District Branch C.I.M.M. Hold Session

The Crows' Nest Section of the Rocky Mountain Branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy met in annual session on Saturday afternoon, September 12, at the Greenhill Grill, Blairmore, with about fifty delegates present from points between Burnis and Trail, including Mr. McNaughton of the latter point, and Mr. Miard from Fernie-Cool Creek.

Luncheon was served at the Grill at 1 p.m., followed by the business session, which included a very interesting and instructive film and sound entertainment by Mr. P. F. Peele, C.G.E., apparatus sales engineer of Canadian General Electric Co. on the subject "The Inside of Arc Welding."

At 3.30 the ladies were taken to the home of Mrs. J. J. McIntyre at Coleman for tea, and at 5.15 the business session ended, with members free to take the air of Blairmore.

At 6.15 a reception was held at the home of Secretary J. R. Smith, some fifty or more being present, including the ladies. This event was followed by a sumptuous dinner at the Greenhill Grill, and a later reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brusset, where the gathering enjoyed a moving picture program of five films kindly displayed by Mr. H. Meade, proprietor of Meade's Baking Service, and depicting scenes in Australia, New Zealand, the Rocky Mountains, etc., actually snapped by Mr. Meade himself. A most interesting film is that showing the varied processes through which flour has to pass before it reaches the consumer in finished edible material.

A social entertainment followed this program.

We understand that many matters of general interest to the mining industry were discussed at the convention.

Messrs. Miard, McNaughton and others from distant points, expressed their pleasure at visiting this section of the Pass again.

CIGARETTE FUND NOTES

An airgraph letter was received by the Legion this week from A. Krywolt, now in Britain. It reads: Just a line, saying that I received your second parcel of cigarettes. A million thanks to all who make this possible. Have been kept busy for the past two months. Only Coleman boys with me are Dan Daly and Albert Hauluck. Last familiar face I saw was over four months ago. I have hopes of running into them again. Closing with best regards to all and thanking all for the "Sweet Caps." They are sure sweet over here once you have to go without them for a few weeks.—A. Krywolt.

FROST KILLS LOCAL GARDENS

Last Thursday morning gardeners went into their gardens to survey the damage wrought by the year's heaviest frost. International nine thermometer recorded 17 degrees of frost, which proved sufficient to kill all but the hardiest plants. The dahlias, especially, were heavily hit.

Elks Sponsored A Successful Picnic On Sunday

Tony Servello Crowned Horse-Shoe Champion; Kiddies Drink 10 Cans of Pop; Games Enjoyed

Coleman Elks sponsored another successful annual picnic on Sunday when their families gathered at the Boy Scout camp on Knowles ranch. The day was warm and added greatly to the enjoyment of the picnic.

Games for all were played. Tony Servello proved himself the champion horse-shoe pitcher and beat all comers. Money was given the winners of the kiddies races and the judges were most lenient as everybody appeared to be a winner and were awarded a prize.

There was no lack of refreshments for the youngsters and ten cases of pop were exhausted before the Elks decided it was time to go home. The ladies were responsible for bringing lunches and as a result there was no lack of food. Everyone appeared to enjoy themselves.

Salvation Army Canvassers Busy This Week

Both Mines as Well as Business Section Canvassed; Ladies To Canvass a Number of Homes.

The Salvation Army campaign committee has been busy during the week canvassing the business section and both mines. No official figures are yet available and it is not known how the campaign is progressing towards its $500 quota.

The ladies of the Red Shield will canvass a number of homes that were not covered by the mine canvass. It is a little too early to receive returns from the local organizations which also have been solicited.

Germany Must Pay

HERBERT MORRISON, British Secretary of State for Home Affairs, said in a recent speech that rough justice for Germans will have to be tolerated for a while after the war, to make the Nazis pay in part for all the atrocities they have committed in European occupied countries. Rough justice, he added, will be too good for those guilty of the unspeakable foulness that has shamed and darkened the human record in the murders and horrors perpetrated by Adolf Hitler and his followers. Somewhat the same sentiments were voiced by Frank Wolstencroft, President of the British Trade Unions Congress, when he warned British workers that "the Germans will make another attempt to enslave Europe after they lose this war unless they have meted out to them what they have meted out to millions of their fellow creatures."

Nazis Must Be Overcome

These public men have voiced the feelings of the people of the United Nations who are determined that this war will be continued until Germany's military power is completely crushed. When that is accomplished, steps must be taken to ensure that it will not have a chance to form again, and we shall have to face the colossal problem of dealing with a generation of Germans, educated from the cradle in the principles of Nazism. It is now clear that the Versailles Treaty was to the Germans only a respite which allowed them time to prepare to rise again and once more attempt to dominate the world by force. That this was permitted is regrettable, but we can profit by that experience, and the people of the democratic countries will look to their leaders to take measures to prevent the development of another world struggle ten or twenty years from now.

Wars Of Aggression

It has frequently been pointed out that in the last eighty years Germany has four times started wars of aggression. In 1864, 1870, 1914, and 1939, they set out to conquer. Each time they were ultimately subdued, but it would be impossible to fully reckon the suffering and havoc which has resulted from these outbreaks, each of which has been more violent than the last. The war of 1914-18 was a fierce and bitter conflict, yet the present war far exceeds it both in violence and in the extent of operations. One would hesitate to contemplate what would be the nature of a war fought twenty or thirty years from now, if science and invention continues to progress at the present rate. There is little doubt but that the German people were behind the governments which led them into wars of conquest, and that they will support their leaders as long as they are victorious. It is the hope of all free people that the present war will see the end for all time of these cruel and vicious conflicts.

The Avro Lancaster

Anything Said Of Its Performance Can Really Be Believed

We rose with the sun to get out to Rockcliffe to see come in Britain's best answer to Adolf Hitler, but a ground fog there sent it off to Up-lands instead. After a cross-country chase we reached Up-lands with only a few minutes to gaze at the great four-engined Avro Lancaster before it lumbered off to Toronto with a cargo of Government officials.

They say this great bird can carry eight tons of bombs in its belly in addition to the 22 tons it weighs itself when aloft. Looking at it you'll believe anything they say of it.

Harvards and Yates looked like fleas bustling around this great squatting beetle whose ponderous rubber feet alone must have provoked the rubber shortage. But suddenly she wasn't squatting any more—without any notice, with no pulling away of blocks or waving of flags, the big black beetle moved ahead and manoeuvred around the field to her starting point as nonchalantly as a sleek limousine with a Negro chauffeur at the wheel.

The plane started from the same place as all those other little planes start that drone away all day, and without any particular din or sense of commotion. Moreover, being 102 feet wide and 65 feet long, it didn't appear to be attaining the kind of speed necessary to take it aloft. But at 2,900 feet along the runway, precisely 23 seconds after it started, the big craft eased into the air, so gently that its rise was almost imperceptible. Another 67 seconds and it was out of sight, complete with C. D. Howe and his colleagues. For its size and all we could see of anyone inside, it might have carried the Ballet Russe and the Don Cossack choir.—Ottawa Journal.

Soon it will be easy to keep up with the Joneses. They won't be able to go anywhere, either.

Engineering Students

Western Students Supplement Academic Work By Practical Experience

As a further move toward filling Canada's increasingly serious war need for engineers, many undergraduates from universities in western Canada, students in engineering and other scientific courses, have been supplementing their academic work by practical experience this summer at the plants of The International Nickel Company of Canada in the Copper Cliff area.

In line with the program laid down by the Wartime Bureau of Technical Personnel in Ottawa, details of the plan under which the students came east were worked out co-operatively by university heads and company officials. Pending military and war industry requirements for engineers could absorb many more technical men than Canadian universities will graduate from present enrollments. In this circumstance, the best contribution which the engineering undergraduate can make is to finish his course. But to use all technical knowledge to the limit of its availability the Wartime Bureau program called for all such students to engage in summer work which is not only essential but which also increases their professional skill and ability after graduation.

As a spokesman for one western university states: "Training that these students are receiving during the summer is most important." He points out: "The fact that practically all our undergraduates are employed for the vacation on essential war work is a tribute to the policy of both government and industry."

To the large body of engineering undergraduates in the nickel industry, western universities have supplied an important group. The field work in the Copper Cliff area not only involves mining operations but also a variety of metallurgical processes. Engaged in it are students from mining, chemical, electrical and mechanical engineering and other allied courses.

Under the supervision of outstanding industrial experts and research scientists it links their academic work in western Canada with valuable first-hand knowledge of production in one of Canada's greatest industries.

Australian Scientists

Have Contributed Valuable Ideas To Air Services Of Empire

Australian scientists have played a foremost part in radio location experiments which have proved invaluable to the air services of the Empire. Details of these investigations as of many other effective Australian scientific contributions to the war effort, must for the present remain secret. There is no secret, however, about the bulletproof armorplate which has been perfected by the efforts of a group of metallurgists associated with a well-known company—armor which is not only more effective than that which formerly was imported, but which is cheaper and is drawn entirely from raw materials available in Australia.

Something Really New

Porridge Parties Have Replaced Afternoon Tea In Scottish Office

Perhaps it won't be much of a surprise if one of these days some fine "porridge party" or other is recorded among the social doings. Porridge parties, instead of afternoon tea, have been held with success at the Government's Scottish office in London. What with biscuits about to be rationed the idea may spread. The National Farmer's Union hopes it does to increase consumption of oats.

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In Our Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

Several young gentlemen of my acquaintance have dropped out of sight in local circles. No more are they seen at the square dances that have recently become very popular at a dance pavilion not far away. The local "hot doggers", where boys and girls who never have any appetite at meal times stuff themselves at odd hours to the detriment of pocket money that can't stay in pockets, will have to struggle along without them. No longer, will these particular young gentlemen—three of them English—three French-speaking—strum their guitars and other musical instruments in my living-room.

No longer, that is until their first "leaves" roll around and they turn up in uniform, heavier, more erect and hunched to earn and deserve the admiration of their dancing partners.

They have gone off in several directions, to the Artillery, the Infantry, the Air Force, and to work on the construction of a strategic highway. The girls who have swum and bicycled and liked and danced with them all summer set me right when I made some rather ad hoc comments upon the boys who are to be paid almost as much per hour in highway construction as the soldiers and airmen get per day.

"They've been turned down for the Army," was chorused at me, "and anyway by the time they pay for board and room and clothes there won't be much difference in their pay."

Another point made by the young ladies in putting this old soldier to rights was that the road-makers will probably be in almost as great danger as their pals in uniform.

It all goes to prove two things—that even an old scold has no right to jump to conclusions—and that there is more than one way to be of service to the Dominion in this fight for self-preservation.

Probably the most illuminating feature of this sudden exodus—and six young gentlemen from a small community leaves a noticeable gap—is the tranquility that has descended upon those who play the stellar roles.

We older people don't realize the problems with which we have faced our juniors. From our set ideas and politically muscle-bound brains, we evolve a series of mystifying regulations and conditions. Then we expect youngsters just out of school to understand what we haven't courage enough to tell them when their minds are busy trying to adjust themselves to a life that has none of the protection with which we surround their school days.

Put yourself in the position of a 'teen age boy. He suddenly becomes conscious of a world that is peopled mostly by contemporaries in uniform. He learns that a khaki uniform minus a word "Canada" is the badge of the "draftee."

Others in khaki, but wearing "Canada" are volunteers. They will be accepted at the age of eighteen but will not go overseas until they are nineteen.

But if they do not volunteer they will not be called until they are twenty.

What shall he do? We can't tell him. We should be able to tell him what we want. We are the people, aren't we? We govern the country, don't we?

We've got to wake up. If we are going to ask our young gentlemen to enlist to save us from an enemy who will spare no-one the least we can do is to make quite clear what we expect of them.

That's why I say that the most illuminating feature of what has been happening in our village is the descent of tranquility upon the young gentlemen. There are no perplexities left for them.

Now they are in uniform the Personnel Selection Directorate will see to it that they are employed where they fit in best—which means they will have greater opportunities for advancement and promotion than was the lot of the private soldier before this war. They have no decisions of a major character to make. They are doing their duty and are in the hands of men trained to employ them to the best advantage, men who know that their own future, their own safety, their own lives will be in the hands of these youth they are training.

What about us? We are older. By now the perplexities of life should not be as troublesome to us as they are to the 'teen age world.

We can't rely upon an administrative and training staff to direct our activities into channels where we

NOW WE RECOMMEND ALL-BRAN TO ALL OUR FRIENDS

Says Mrs. Joseph Pare, Montreal, Quebec: "I find KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN much more satisfactory than pills or powders. Nearly all our family suffered from constipation. Our friends suggested pills and powders, but relief was only temporary. Now we eat ALL-BRAN regularly and recommend it to our friends."

Instead of waiting until you suffer and then dosing yourself with harsh purgatives, try ALL-BRAN'S "Better Way" to correct the cause of constipation due to the lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet. Eat it daily and drink plenty of water, but remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like a cathartic; it takes time. ALL-BRAN is sold at your grocer's in two convenient size packages; at restaurants in individual serving packages. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

RECENT SALVAGE DRIVE ON WESTERN PRAIRIES YIELDS AN ENORMOUS LOAD OF SCRAP

Ottawa.—The success of the recent salvage drive in the Canadian prairie provinces has been "astounding," Charles LaFerte, national salvage director, said in a statement.

Mr. LaFerte and Munitions Minister Howe paid warm tribute to the farmers, the western wheat pools, grain elevator companies and associations, farm implement manufacturers and other organizations which helped to assemble and ship "a large tonnage" of scrap iron.

"At a time when scrap is an urgent requirement of war production," Mr. Howe said, "this tonnage is most welcome."

"The success of the campaign has been largely due to the splendid co-operation received from the various elevator companies and their many branches throughout the prairie provinces who supervised the campaign on a voluntary basis. Our thanks are due also to the many patriotic citizens of western Canada, who have delivered scrap promptly and in such large quantities to the various scrap depots."

The drive brought to light quantities of discarded harrows, combines and harvesting machines, junked tractors, discs and other farm machinery. Single pieces of equipment weighing up to 12 tons and ploughshares weighing up to 4,000 pounds were obtained in the collection, harvested during July and August.

Would Recruit Yugoslav Troops For War Roles

Ottawa.—Special and probably dangerous war roles await the Yugoslav troops whom Col. D. P. Savitch hopes to recruit and train in Canada.

He is looking for men to reinforce Yugoslav air force squadrons fighting with the R.A.F. in the Middle East and Gen. Mihalovic's tough army which is still battling the German occupation forces in the homeland.

Just how men who may be recruited and trained in Canada can reach and join the Yugoslav army at home is something he is not talking about for obvious reasons.

Col. Savitch has come to Canada on a military mission. He now is trying to find what Yugoslav citizens who may be fit and available for service are in Canada with a view to asking them to join the army and report for training at Windsor, Ont. A similar survey is being made in United States.

Col. Savitch was chief of staff of his country's air force when the Germans attacked Yugoslavia in the spring of 1941. He was not home at the time so he was a non-participant at the signing of the Russian-Yugoslav non-aggression pact in Moscow and the country was over-run before he got back.

Since then he has devoted himself to the activities of Yugoslav forces outside the country and their chief problem is men.

The problem of supporting Gen. Mihalovic is also a vital one for the Yugoslavs, he said. Weapons, munitions and supplies are needed and this is one of the factors the Yugoslav government has in mind in recruiting men in Canada and U.S.

Some of them may be trained in parachute work. They will be given instruction which will enable them to go to certain places and carry out certain duties which they alone, by reason of their speaking the language of the country, could perform.

"Because our forces are still fighting in Yugoslavia infiltration can be carried out more efficiently there than in other parts of Europe," says Col. Savitch.

NO STEPS TAKEN

But Canadian People May Soon Have Some Meatless Days

Ottawa.—The wartime prices and trade board admitted that meatless days may soon have to be introduced in Canada to offset the beef shortage, British United Press reported.

Up to now the board had vigorously denied rumors that meatless days were in prospect for Canadians, but the announcement admitted that such a measure was under consideration. However, the board pointed out that no definite steps have yet been taken and the measure is only under consideration.

WARNS PETAIN

Edouard Herriot, president of the French republic, who, with Jules Jeanneney, president of the French senate, has signed a letter, written in the name of the French parliament, accusing Marshal Philippe Petain of assuming an unlimited dictatorship and warning him not to try to draw France into war against "our Allies". The letter indicates that France is facing its greatest crisis since its fall in June, 1940.

FOR THE DURATION
Ottawa.—Parliament Hill's Peace Tower will lose Dominion Carillonner Robert J. Donnell to the R.C.A.F. for the duration. It is expected here the R.C.A.F. will use his services in arranging concerts for the crack Air Force band at Rockliffe air station, to which he will be attached as a manuscript copyist.

Tokyo.—Masayuki Tani, president of the board of information, was named Japanese foreign minister to succeed Shigenori Togo, who resigned Sept. 1.

Radio Stations To Sign Off At An Earlier Hour

Ottawa.—Canadian Broadcasting Corporation network, will sign off the air at 11:30 p.m. local time in all regions beginning next Sunday.

This is announced by the CBC general manager, Gladstone Murray, who says the move is designed to reduce wear on equipment.

Murray says that such a reduction of broadcast operations in each time zone across the Dominion will lengthen the life of a large amount of equipment, some of which can't be replaced.

He says that the early sign-off will be put into effect at all but one of the broadcasting stations owned or operated by the CBC. These are CBL and CBY, Toronto; CBO, Ottawa; CBF and CBM, Montreal; CBV, Quebec; CBJ, Chicoutimi; CBR, Vancouver, and CBK, Watrous, Saskatchewan.

He added that on some nights it will be necessary to operate for the extra half hour to midnight at CBA, the maritime province outlet for the CBC at Sackville, New Brunswick.

BRAZIL HELPING

Sea And Air Forces Are Fighting German Sub Menace
Rio De Janeiro.—President Vargas ordered general mobilization throughout Brazil.

Brazil declared war against Germany and Italy Aug. 22 after incurring heavy losses from Axis attacks on her merchant shipping.

Since then Brazilian sea and air forces have been helping the Allies combat the enemy sea menace.

The general mobilization extends steps already taken by the Brazilian government which have put the nation on a military basis. Brazil could place 250,000 trained infantrymen in the field.

REPORT SHOWS THAT LABOR RESERVES IN BRITAIN HAVE BEEN NEARLY EXHAUSTED

Montreal.—Coincident with efforts being made in Canada to bring about most efficient use of man and woman power, the International labor office here released a 163-page study of what has been done in Britain, what difficulties are being met and what success achieved. It comments: "Labor reserves throughout that country have been nearly exhausted."

The study, prepared by Elizabeth Mayer Johnstone, a member of the employment and labor conditions section of the I.L.O., says that "in less than three years of war between four and five million people in Britain have been shifted from their homes and transferred to war work in other parts of the country."

"The basic labor demands of the munitions factories have now been met. In this process, labor reserves throughout the country have been nearly exhausted."

"Although there are still untapped sources of supply in the less essential industries and among the unemployed population, these sources are now being drained by a steady tightening of the measures already taken. But it seems improbable that these measures can bring any appreciable increase in the total labor force available for war industries since the needs of the armed forces for men and of the auxiliary services for women are still tremendous and must be met."

"To satisfy the requirements of war industries, it will therefore be necessary to rely to an increasing extent on a redistribution of the existing munitions labor supply and on a new drive to make the most efficient use of the services of each war worker."

"Redistribution of the country's war workers means continuing transfers of both skilled and unskilled workers among the basic munitions industries and among the undertakings within each of these new industries."

"Within the munitions industries the ratio of skilled labor to trainees, unskilled and other labor in the different plants may have to be adjusted more logically than was possible during the earliest rush for manpower. There are said to be differences of as much as 30 per cent in this ratio among plants doing the same operation or series of operations."

"With this shifting of war workers, some of those who were transferred away from their homes may be brought back to fill war jobs which may have arisen only after their departure and which may have been filled by workers transferred from other centres. In some cases, reciprocal exchanges may be arranged..."

NEW GASOLINE RATIONING CATEGORY FOR THOSE DRIVING CARS FOR PERSONAL USE

Ottawa.—Establishment of a new gasoline rationing category for all persons using a car for personal transportation and not for business, reducing the motor fuel available to them, will be effective Oct. 1. Munitions Minister Howe announced in an address over a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation national network.

The minister said submarine attacks have caused "colossal" damage to oil tankers, reserves of gasoline are about 20,000,000 gallons less than a year ago, and stocks of crude oil and unfinished products are about 40,000,000 gallons less.

Those to be moved into the new "AA" category are users of cars for other than essential purposes and who can best do without a car if the gasoline supply situation continues to deteriorate, the minister said.

Category "A" will permit the purchase between Oct. 1 and March 31, 1943, of 16 units for cars in class one—the lighter types: 15 units for class 2—the medium-size, and 20 units for class 3—the larger types. The gasoline unit is three gallons in the maritimes, four in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia and five on the prairies.

In the present category "A", a driver is entitled to 60 units a year and in the six months from Oct. 1 to March 31, could get 30 units, almost double the "A" allowance. In category "AA" the driver with a class two car may receive 34 units every six months and in class three, 38 units.

Everyone who depends on fuel oil for heating this winter will do so at his own risk since the supply of this fuel is more precarious than it was in the summer, said Mr. Howe, adding:

"In the month of July, not one ocean tanker reached Halifax."

"Let us not discount the impact on Canada of submarine warfare."

He could give no assurance there would be sufficient oil for winter heating. If sufficient oil could not be brought into Canada, oil installations that could be converted to coal would be the first to be deprived of supplies.

Car drivers who had already been moved from a higher to a lower category for gasoline rationing will not be moved into category "AA". The new category coupon book would not contain more coupons than the book of higher category which might be turned in. Notices will be mailed to those being transferred to the new category.

"You must understand now, that when your coupon book is exhausted your motoring is finished until April 1 of next year," Mr. Howe said.

"No supplementary book can or will be provisionally issued. Otherwise it would make rationing meaningless. Also, please keep in mind that the coupons you do not use are a valuable contribution toward solving Canada's gasoline problem."

There could be no hope of the motorist obtaining tire replacements for other than the most necessary war uses.

"Therefore, for your own protection, as well as for the good of the country, I urge all of you who can do so, to lay up your cars in the winter months," Mr. Howe said.

"By so doing, you will accomplish much to insure an adequate supply of gasoline for your motoring next summer. When your car is laid up, the transit controller will find some means for your conveyance to and from your work."

"The brutal fact" was that while gasoline reserves were lower, the demand was increasing because of the quickening tempo of the war, while sources of supply grew smaller month by month.

Plans Trouble For Rommel In Egypt

Lieut.-Gen. B. L. Montgomery, commander of the British 8th Army charged with the defence of Egypt, is shown here as he discusses a tactical situation facing the 22nd Armored Brigade facing the Nazis in the western desert. Under Montgomery's brilliant leadership Allied troops have stopped the Nazi General Rommel's drive towards Alexandria and Cairo cold, and have driven them back beyond the starting point of their last attack. Standing just behind and to the left of Montgomery is Lieut.-Gen. Horrocks.

Greets Soviet Sniper

Lieut. Liudmila Pavlichenko, young woman Soviet sniper whose heroic exploits against the invading Nazi armies won her the Order of Lenin decoration, is shown getting a healthy handshake and a pat on the back from Mayor LaGuardia, in New York. Lieut. Pavlichenko is credited with having destroyed 309 Nazi officers and men during eleven months of action on the Russian front.

Around The Town

An old land mark disappeared this week when the last steel girders and stout timbers were trucked away from what had for many years been the International Coal Co. trestle bridge over No. 3 highway.

Harry Garner is building a new home on his property on the Flat. He has his son-in-law, Fred Slugg, giving valuable assistance and hopes to have the framework up before cold weather comes.

This town needs a few more citizens to take an active part in the various organizations at present functioning. Last night we attended a meeting of Coleman Salvage committee. At first glance at the men present the meeting could have been for either Red Cross, Salvation Army campaign, Salvage committee, War Finance or several other organizations, for it was the same small number of men who shoulder all the work in order to keep Coleman in stride with the rest of the towns throughout the province. It has got to the point where new blood will have to be injected into those organizations, for it was seen at Monday's meeting that each of the men present is working at several voluntary jobs as well as their everyday work. They can't possibly shoulder any more positions and do the work as efficiently as it should be done. If any citizens desire to help in salvage, or any other community activities they need only mention the fact to Frank Aboussey, W. Dault or A. Balloch, who will be only too pleased to extend them invitations to meetings of the various organizations.

Minesweeper to Bear Name of "Blairmore"

A Canadian minesweeper, recently launched at a Great Lakes port, will be named after the town of Blairmore, according to information received by Mayor Enoch Williams.

The information was discussed at a meeting of the town council last Wednesday, and it was decided to show the town's appreciation for the honor of having the minesweeper named for it, by furnishing some of the equipment for the ship and crew.

Further information is awaited and when full particulars have been received a drive for funds will be made to buy the necessary equipment.—Lethbridge Herald.

WEDDINGS

RUSHTON—BATES

A marriage of interest took place at St. Alban's church on Saturday, September 12, at 8 p.m., when Mrs. Annie Bates, of Coleman, was united in marriage to John Metcalfe Rushton, well known local citizen. Attendants were Mary and John Viskovsky, of Coleman; Rev. J. R. Hague conducting the service. The following morning the newlyweds left by train for a honeymoon at Vancouver, where they will visit relatives.

PETERSON—TOLLEY

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United church manse Thursday evening, September 17, when Mildred Tolley and John Carl Peterson, both of Fernie, B. C., were united in marriage. Mrs. James Hallet and Mr. John Cunliff, accompanied by other members of the Fernie party, witnessed the ceremony. The happy young couple will reside at Fernie where the groom is employed.

McDOUGALL—HAGUE

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Alban's Anglican church, Coleman, on the evening of Saturday, September 19, when Kathleen, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hague, sr., of Raymond, became the bride of Roderick Lorne McDougall, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. McDougall, of Winnipeg. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Mrs. D. McRae, of Blairmore, and the ceremony was performed by the bride's brother, Rev. J. R. Hague.

After the service a supper was enjoyed by the wedding party which also included Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Hague, of Picture Butte, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hague, jr., of Raymond. Immediately following Mr. and Mrs. McDougall left for Edmonton where they will reside.

Mouse's Dinner One Pound Note

And Rotted Mailed from Malta to Britain as a Post Office Problem

LONDON, Sept. (CP)—Packed in a tin box, a dead mouse came from the George Cross island of Malta to the General Post office in London with a note reading "inside this animal are the remains of a £1 Bank of England note. Will you please send me another in its place."

The sender meant another bank note, of course (not a mouse), and it was just another problem for the post office which, as agent for the Bank of England, undertakes preliminary inquiries into cases of mutilated currency. Every year it pays out approximately £500,000 ($2,250,000) to replace such notes. One man sent along some small fragments with the explanation he had left a note on a table for the insurance collector. The house parrot escaped from its cage and had a real money meal, he explained. A London woman sent in half a note and asked that it be replaced. Records showed, however, that someone had sent in the other half 22 years ago and that the claim had been met at that time.

In a recent raid on a South Anglian town a woman had several hundred £1 notes all but destroyed by fire. Charred fragments were forwarded to the General Post Office. After examination it was confirmed they represented the amount claimed and the money was replaced.

Modesty

Jascha Heifetz and Micha Elman, the violinists, were dining together one evening. In the middle of the meal, the waiter placed a note on the table addressed: "To the world's greatest violinist." Both musicians glanced at it.

"This is for you, Mischa," said Heifetz modestly—certain that it was not.

"Oh, no, Jascha," protested Elman, just as modestly. "It's for you."

"Oh, but I insist, Mischa," said Heifetz.

"No, no, Jascha, it's yours." They asked the waiter to read the note to them. He opened it. "Dear Fritz," it began.—Milwaukee Journal.

GUNS AND APPLIANCES FORBIDDEN IN HUNTING

Forbidden—The use of an automatic (auto-loading) gun, or swivel or machine gun, or battery, or rifle, or shotgun loaded with a single bullet, or any gun larger than number 10 gauge, or any weapon other than a gun; and the use of live birds as decoys, or of any aeroplane, power-boat, sail-boat, or night-light, and shooting from any motor or wheeled vehicle or a vehicle to which a draught animal is attached. The hunting of migratory game birds by the use or aid of baiting with grain or other artificial food is prohibited.

The shooting of migratory game birds earlier than one-half hour before sunrise or later than one-half hour after sunset is prohibited.

The penalty for violation of the migratory bird laws is a fine of not more than three hundred dollars and not less than ten dollars, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or fine and imprisonment.

QUICK POTATOES FOR COMPLEXION

British Food Ministry Gives Some Pointers on Bright Eyes

LONDON (CP)—Health tip from Dr. Charles Hill, Ministry of Food expert: "A clear complexion, a bright eye and glowing appearance are maintained by eating potatoes."

Another of Dr. Hill's points was: Middle-aged spread is due to an excess of input over output and I need not tell you where nature stores its surpluses. Now, when I speak of potatoes containing Vitamin C, I mean fresh, quickly-cooked potatoes, not the murderous concoction known as "bubble-and-squeak" (fried with other vegetables).

Here's what he told women about cooking cabbage which during the winter months is Britain's main vegetable dish: "Give it 10 minutes. Don't keep cooking it until you hear the old man's key in the door."

Food Value In Fish

When Digested About 90 Per Cent. Absorbed By Blood Stream

Among the satisfying things scientists and food experts have discovered about fish is that from 85 to 90 per cent of it when digested is absorbed by the blood stream. Fish supplies a complete protein food. It contains the materials necessary for body building and repair. Sea fish should be included frequently in the diet because of its iodine content. Fish generally contains excellent proportions of other minerals including calcium, magnesium, phosphorus, iron and copper.

New York Harbor Lacks Colorful Movement Of Peace Time

War has brought new changes to the great harbor of New York. No. 1 port of the world, where once speedy ocean liners sailed with the luxury passenger trade and busy freighters carried the imports and exports for almost half the nation, says Wide World.

No longer do the sleek, brightly painted passenger vessels move slowly up the Hudson River with gaily waving crowds at the rail. If they come at all they come in battle dress, and secretly.

Passenger traffic to Europe, South America, Bermuda, and the Pacific has ceased. The last regular liners, the Portuguese and Spanish ships, have moved south in deference to the German announcement that New York was now blockaded.

No longer do the hundreds of freighters bring their cargoes of spice and coal, of fruit and wool, tea, lumber, coffee, and cotton to the great piers that gathered their freight and stuffed them again with wheat and machines for the world.

Some still come occasionally in the secrecy of convoys, but you have only to walk through the streets along the Hudson River or the East River to see the empty piers that once housed millions of tons of freight a year.

The port is not dead. There is military and naval activity as at every port, but the activity is considerably less than it was in the last war when the harbor's facilities were used to the utmost.

Typical are the longshoremen, whose union officials estimate that 50 per cent. are out of work. In the last war longshoremen were so busy they were able to give jobs to workers from other unions.

Counteracting Force

Has Been Set In Motion By Aggression Of The Nazis

The New York Times says: The Nazis are shrewd. They make skillful use of the technique of the warfare of words and of the war of machines. In the light of three years of war they are not more than shrewd. It is not in Nazi nature to be wise. Wisdom would have refrained from attacking the United States. Wisdom would have known that the Germans are not numerous enough, or gifted enough to rule the world. Wisdom would have learned from Germany's own philosophers that when you set an aggressive force like Nazism in motion you bring into being the force that will counteract it.

The counteracting force is gathering strength day by day. It is growing inside Hitler's lines as well as outside them. It is growing faster than any possible Axis victories, in Russia, Asia or Africa, could whittle it down. The Second World War has lasted longer and spread farther than Hitler planned. When he failed to end it or limit it in 1940, and again in 1941, he was, perhaps, the victim of his own movement. But his failure sealed his, and the movement's ultimate doom.

Boys In Middle East Find Octopus Makes Good Food

The octopus, which has terrified youngsters in under-water thrillers and is regarded as one of the most sinister perils of the deep, is proving very useful in the Middle East.

The boys fighting out there are getting a new slant on this unattractive creature. A letter from a member of the Royal Army Service Corps describes with gusto the hunting and cooking of the octopus.

"We use a two-pronged barb spear and spear the creatures as they lie in wait in rocky pools. . . When baked and dressed they taste like rich crab. Only the small ones, about two feet in size—are used by the Greeks, and it is a favorite dish with them."—Toronto Telegram.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

On The Home Front

German People Facing Hard Winter Are Weary Of War

Hunger, war-weariness and depression are growing on the German home front. Germany, and together with it, the occupied countries of Europe, face the prospect of a winter grimmer and more terrible than any since 1918. German cities, one by one, are being laid in ruins by the new fearful striking power of the Royal Air Force, greatly augmented by bomber fleets from the United States.

In the east, the Nazi Wehrmacht is locked in a struggle to the death with the Soviet Union. Throughout the conquered countries of Europe, overrun in the past three years by Hitler's armed forces, unrest and even open revolt are spreading among the peoples whom Hitler is seeking to bludgeon into his Nazi "New Order" system. In the West, German garrisons wait uneasily for the second front which the armies of Great Britain and the United States may open at any moment.

Hitler and the other Nazi chiefs, knowing their only hope today of avoiding defeat is to crush completely the military power of Russia in the days still left before his armies are immobilized again in the frozen horror of a Russian winter.

The German home front today is enduring hardships—to some extent even privations—comparable only with those of 1917-18. The food situation is deteriorating alarmingly and critical shortages are almost certain this winter. The situation can be summarized as follows:

1. One of the most disastrous harvests in years is expected.
2. Germany is suffering the worst shortage of potatoes and vegetables since 1918.
3. The fruit crop has been almost completely ruined.
4. The shortage of fats throughout Germany and the occupied territories this winter will be more critical than at any time since the outbreak of war.

Normally food conditions in Germany show a marked improvement during the summer. This summer they have been little better than last winter, which foreign residents in Germany agreed was the grimmest since the World War. Potatoes were rationed for the first time in this war, but in Berlin and many other large German cities they were unobtainable for weeks on end. Vegetables, normally plentiful in summer time, are so scarce this summer that strict rationing had to be put into operation.

Armed For Victory

People Of Britain Have Produced The Weapons They Need

The lessons that the Russians have learned in a year of constant battle, we are learning now in the only school where they can be learned—in battle. The British people have produced the weapons needed. They have built up the greatest air force in the world alongside the greatest navy. They have produced land war weapons in such numbers that with only 20 per cent. of their output they have made Britain the best armed camp in the world. Four times as much they have sent to their armies and their Allies abroad. The mighty achievement of our people is only the start. The reverses they have suffered are only the prelude to the battles they mean to win.—London Daily Express.

JOSEPH: AN EXAMPLE OF FORGIVENESS

Golden text: Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God also in Christ forgave you. Ephesians 4:32.
Lesson: Genesis 45-50.
Devotional reading: I John 4: 7-11.

Explanations and Comments

Joseph Discloses His Identity to His Brothers, Genesis 45: 1-4. Joseph's emotions overcame him, and he could not refrain from weeping. Standing by were obsequious Egyptian servants and officers who would not understand his emotions and might even think that their great ruler was deeming himself by a display of feeling for those foreign shepherds, and therefore he sent them all away. The precaution was futile, however, for when he gave free to his feelings and wept aloud the Egyptians heard his weeping and it was reported in the house of Pharaoh. Tears can be signs of joy as well as of sorrow. "I am Joseph," he cried. "Can you not picture the astonishment, incredulity and fear upon the brothers' faces as they heard these words, 'Doth my father yet live?' In a previous interview with them he had been told several times that his father was alive, but he felt the need of again hearing the reassuring words. No wonder the brothers were silent. 'Come near to me, I pray you,' continued Joseph, wishing them to see his face close at hand. And then he added a bit of information which must have convinced them of his identity, for he alone could have known the fact: 'I am Joseph, your brother whom ye sold into Egypt.'"

God's Purpose in Joseph's Life, Genesis 45:5-8. Joseph wished to save his brothers from grieving or being angry with themselves for their crime of long ago in selling him into slavery in Egypt, and three times in these four verses he asserts that in reality it was God who had sent him to Egypt, not they. He recognized plainly God's providence. God had brought him into Egypt to make him a savior of life during the years of famine. "This sense of a providence, of a Divine care which watches sleeplessly over the fortunes of the individual and of the nation, is one of the most precious things in the Old Testament" John E. McFadyen). "Humble belief that God is working through him to carry out his inscrutable designs dignifies a man, for it makes him a co-worker with the forces that keep the stars in their orbits and hold the earth to its course round the sun."

GAIN AND LOSS

In a civil service examination given in New York some time ago one of the questions asked was, "If a man buys an article for $12.25 and sells it for $9.75, does he gain or lose by the transaction?"

One of our modern sweet young things, after studying for a while, answered, "He gains on the cents but loses on the dollars."

MRS. MINIVER

Adapted From The

By HALSEY RAINES

CHAPTER IV.

One of the two hobbies of Mr. Ballard had been of necessity suspended; the church bells were to be rung now only as an emergency alarm; Lady Beldon was still going to hold her flower show, however, and the station-master had definitely decided to enter his "Mrs. Miniver" rose in competition against her.

All this he confided to Mrs. Miniver as he met her in the early morning by the hedge near the river's edge. She listened absent-mindedly, and with heavy heart, for there was no news of Clem.

She had left Mr. Ballard, and was proceeding toward the garden, when she stopped short. Protruding from a clump of shrubs were the feet of a man in German aviator's uniform. Mrs. Miniver took a deep breath, and tiptoed closer. The pilot looked very young; he was asleep and his clothing was torn and stained.

Turning impulsively, Mrs. Miniver began to run. Her foot tripped on a stone and she sent pebbles and sand flying as she caught her balance. All at once a Teutonic voice called out from behind, like a pistol shot.

Mrs. Miniver looked back. She was covered by the risen aviator's pistol. No one was in sight, and probably no one within earshot.

"Make noise—I shoot!" muttered the German. "Food—drink!" he continued.

Mrs. Miniver pointed to the house, and beckoned to him to follow. As she watched, she saw that one arm hung helplessly at his side, and that he walked with effort.

When she reached the doorway, and saw the look of suspicion in the wounded pilot's eyes, Mrs. Miniver told him that her children and the maid were all asleep upstairs. He only thought now was to ally his feet until she could make way, somehow, reach a telephone or give a warning signal. She gave the German some meat, and a bottle of milk. Then he asked for a coat; she located an old one belonging to Clem. As the aviator tried it on, keeping his gun still on her, an involuntary cry of pain broke from his tight-clenched lips.

"Give me help," said Mrs. Miniver. "Your arm is stiff with blood. You must get to a hospital."

The young German shook his head sullenly.

"You'd die out there," continued Mrs. Miniver, gesturing. "You can't escape. They're scouring the woods day and night."

The pilot's only response was a slight, contemptuous twist of his mouth. Finally he turned, and started for the door. He paused, steadied himself against a chair. As he tried to navigate the last ten feet, he stopped, swayed and then crashed headlong, while the gun slipped from his limp hand.

When he reached consciousness, Mrs. Miniver, who had phoned the police, was covering him with his own revolver. In response to his appeal, she went to the cupboard and brought out some cognac. She no longer felt frightened or nervous. As she stood facing him, the cut-out sight from an airplane was heard overhead.

Her face lighted up: that was Vin, signalling as he had done once before.

"That's my boy," she said. The German looked at her in surprise. "Did you signal your mother when you got back?"

"No!" muttered the enemy fiercer. "We are not soft, like that."

A wave of understanding, a sudden cold appraisal of what was being drilled into the youth of the Rhineland, of what Clem had tried to tell her, swept over Mrs. Miniver. A minute later two policemen arrived, and took their captive into tow.

When Mrs. Miniver heard a mechanical sound down by the river's brink, a sound she had been waiting for as eagerly as the put-put of Vin's motor, she ran wildly out of the house.

She was, with typing up his boat, looked drawn and haggard. The boat was criss-crossed with machine-gun fire. His clothes were rain-soaked and torn.

"Are you all right?" begged Mrs. Miniver, folding him in her arms.

"Fine," smiled Clem. "But I'm tired. I'd like to get some sleep." When he had awakened, ten hours later, Mrs. Miniver and Ada, the cook, were standing in the bedroom doorway.

"How about some ham and eggs?" asked Clem, his whole manner one of rejuvenation.

"Mrs. Miniver gave all the ham to the German pilot," popped up Ada. "What?" cried Clem. He turned to his wife. "You mean a German pilot was here?" He stared at her. "Did he have a gun?"

"Oh, yes," nodded Mrs. Miniver. "But I took it away and called the police."

Clem dropped back on the bed, and laughed till the tears came. "Gosh! What a woman!" he exclaimed, when he could catch his breath. "And I thought you'd been having a nice, quiet time when I was at Dunkirk."

Lady Beldon's arrival was not unexpected to Mrs. Miniver. She had foreseen a visit from the first lady of the township ever since Carol and Vin had announced her engagement.

"I think I can guess why you've come," said Mrs. Miniver, taking her hand. "I hope you're as pleased as we are."

"I'm afraid not," said Lady Beldon stiffly. "Why those two are still infants." She fixed her eyes on Mrs. Miniver. "I think I should tell you, I hope to persuade Carol to wait—"

"Isn't it a Beldon tradition to marry young?" asked Mrs. Miniver. "I don't know what you mean," said Lady Beldon, knitting her brows.

Mrs. Miniver smiled gently. "My daughter Judy," she said, "had a commission to write late work on the Crusades. She brought home a book, about an ancestor of yours. I got interested and looked up some other books. What interested me especially was the extreme youth of the Beldons here. This Gilbert de Beldon who went to the Crusades, married Isabel de Something-or-other, aged twelve."

Lady Beldon seemed to assume an extra two inches of height. "My dear Mrs. Miniver," she said, "we're not in the Middle Ages!"

"Oh, there were others!" continued Mrs. Miniver, unperturbed. "In the seventeenth century who eloped from Eton with the fourteen-year-old—"

"Mrs. Miniver," interrupted Lady Beldon, "I didn't come here to chatter pedigris. Carol's eighteen, your boy's not yet twenty—"

"We're at Lady Beldon," said Mrs. Miniver gravely. "In wartime time is so precious for the young people." She took the other's arm. "My dear Mrs. Miniver, you were sixteen yourself when you were married. Did you regret it?"

A fiery look crossed the other woman's eyes. "I've never regretted a moment of it," she exclaimed. "My husband was in the army—he was killed in action. But I wouldn't want Carol to suffer—as I suffered—"

"Don't you want her to be happy, you were, even if for a little while?" went on Mrs. Miniver.

"I was afraid you'd think of that," answered Lady Beldon. But there was a marked difference in her manner. All hostility was gone. "Of course," she continued, "you and I know it doesn't really matter what we say."

Mrs. Miniver's eyes twinkled. "You mean, Carol will go her own way?" she asked.

"She's my granddaughter," said Lady Beldon, with an answering twinkle.

Mrs. Miniver looked at her oddly. She didn't quite know how to express herself tactfully. "Then why—"

She began. "Goodness knows!" cut in Lady Beldon. "I was beaten before I started."

Mrs. Miniver stepped over, sat on the sofa beside her, and placed a hand on her arm.

"You're pretty terrible, do you?" she pleaded. "He is a nice boy."

"He's a charming boy," said Lady Beldon. "I see now where he gets it. You're pretty too. Don't wonder that wretched Ballard named his rose after you. Not that he has a chance of taking the cup from me." She paused and added sharply, "Well, as long as we're going to be relatives the least you can do is to offer me some tea."

Were Going By Boat

But Small American Planes Reached Brazil Under Own Power.

There is a promise of coming events in the disclosure by Colonel Armando Avarigboa, the Brazilian air attaché, of the arrival of 44 small single-engine American airplanes under their own power at Rio de Janeiro.

Fifty-eight pilots and mechanics of the Brazilian Air Force flew 19 four-place cabin monoplanes and 25 primary trainers from the Fairchild factory in Hagerstown, Md., to their goal more than 9,000 miles away without serious variation from schedules set up before departure.

This was the largest flyaway delivery of airplanes yet made to South America from the United States. It was necessitated by war conditions. The little planes for the Brazilian Air Force had been going to make the journey in more prosaic fashion. Indeed, they had been crated and delivered to a pier when the submarine menace in the Atlantic caused the change of plan. Returned to the factory, they were reassembled and flown off in groups of six.

In this rapidly evolving era of flight we are beginning to take as a matter of course overnight crossings of the Atlantic by Clipper and journeys of diplomats and rulers between far-flung capitals, such as the visit of Mr. Churchill to Moscow, in big bombers. We will take such distant journeys by air more and more in our stride as the impact of air power, not only on war but on commerce, becomes still more evident. But for small aircraft with a range of not more than 500 miles to make serenely and without major incident the long trek down to Rio lifts the curtain on a day of greatly expanded private flying which seems sure to link world capitals and world markets—New York Times.

Air Corps Has Played Brilliant Part In Many Battles

Three years after their defeat the Poles have 90,000 troops in active service in England and the Near East and more than 100,000 more waiting to be equipped and transferred from Russia to the Allied Caucasian front.

A Polish air corps of 12,000 has played a brilliant part in the battles of Britain and North Africa. The Polish army ranks fifth among the armed forces of the United Nations.

HIS BIRTHDAY MESSAGE

During his five years in the Marine Corps Sergeant Nicholas Windisch of Philadelphia never failed to send his father a birthday telegram. A telegram came on schedule this year and the father, Robert, opened it eagerly. It read: "Your son has been killed in action."

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

—Times courtesy Monetary Times, Toronto.

A church in Regina, Sask., was built with its back to the street because the Roumanian Orthodox church must face west. As shown in an Associated Screen "Did You Know That" movie short, further difficulty was encountered in installing the bell. It was too heavy for the steeple. So a separate bell tower was constructed alongside the church.

HOME SERVICE

POPULAR GIRL IS SURE OF ETIQUETTE

"Did I Do Something Wrong?"

That ghastly feeling that you've done something wrong, that people are laughing at you (or wincing) may sometimes be perfectly right. People DO look down on you when you commit some obvious breach of etiquette.

Like walking across a dance-floor alone! After a dance a girl who knows what to do asks her partner to take her back to her friends or wherever she may wish to go.

And a well-bred man, of course, will never leave a girl in the middle of the dance floor—any more than he'd give his order first in a restaurant or neglect to offer his arm to his girl when crossing a crowded street or getting out of a car.

The popular girl knows her part is to receive such courtesies graciously, not with a crude "Don't bother." That's why she's dated, rushed!

You could be, too, if you were sure of the rules. Our 32-page booklet tells both girls and men how to act on dates—whether dancing, dining, motoring, at the theatre or sports events. Tells what to say in introductions, on the telephone. Discusses office and travel etiquette, petting.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Etiquette for Young Moderns" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg Newsprint Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

SMILE AWHILE

A newly-inducted private wrote his family some few days after he had arrived at camp.

"I've gained 60 pounds since I came here—two pounds of flesh and 58 pounds of equipment."

"I called to make an appointment with the dentist."

"He's out just now."

"Ah, when do you expect him to be out again?"

She (ending a quarrel): "I see now why woman is often called a bird."

He (smartly): "Yes, because they are always on the lookout for crumbs."

She (quietly): "No, because of the worms they pick up."

"I'm wondering what to buy for my wife's birthday."

"Ask her."

"Good heavens, I couldn't afford that!"

There was a pile of stones in the road and a lamp on the top of it. An old fellow was in charge.

"What's this lamp for?"

"So motorists can see the pile of stones."

"But what's the pile of stones for?"

"To put the lamp on, of course."

Young Wife—Leonard is so slovenly. Half the buttons are generally missing from his clothes.

Severe Aunt—H'm. Perhaps they are not sewn on properly.

"That's just it. He's awfully careless about his sewing."

She—You can take me to the dance on the pier tonight if you like, unless (coolly) you meet somebody more attractive in the meantime.

He—I say, that's joyful sporting of you. We'll leave it like that, then, shall we?

"What were those unusual greens we had tonight, cook?"

"You remember, ma'am, you said those geraniums in the garden looked so lovely you could eat them?"

"Yes."

"Well, you have!"

IN CASE YOU DON'T

Neal O'Hara, in New York Post, says a young traveller reports that in a pullman dining, when the coffee in his cup begins to squirm about a bit as the train moves, it'll stop slopping and spilling if he places a spoon in the cup. Of course, that isn't according to Emily Post, but do you want your coffee spilling or don't you?

GOOD CROP OF MOSS

Harvesting of Irish moss, the edible seaweed abounding about the Nova Scotian coast, is becoming an important industry in Yarmouth. Nearly 50 tons have been shipped away this summer, obtaining good prices on the U.S. market.
